

Photography Workshop

Light and shadow - experiments with photograms

Photos without a camera - in photograms, the objects leave traces of their outlines through exposure. Works of art are created from light and shadow. We will take inspiration from photographs in the exhibition "Everything Art - from Aldi to Rubens" and experiment with different techniques in the photo lab.

The cyanotype produces particularly fine prints in blue. In our workshop, you can test the various techniques and create your own works. Come along and be surprised.
